SAFEGUARDING IN SPORT

In h

Prevention minimises risks, while responsive actions involve handling incidents appropriately. Involves protecting health, well-being, human rights and living free from harm, abuse and neglect. 10

Our rights do not change when we engage in sport at any level or in any capacity.

Confidence in the safeguarding processes calls for independence from the source.

Children and at-risk adults may not be well equipped to guard against or report harm and exploitation.

It is everyone's responsibility, and needs a dedicated policy / dedicated point of contact in sports clubs.

(5)

iProtect is a free online learning platform for all sports stakeholders to learn about safeguarding.

Normalise safeguarding: educate people, discuss it, and train people to recognise, respond, & provide remedy. 8

Take all allegations seriously, no matter how much or little is known. Independent investigative processes protect whistle-blowers and survivors.

Processes must respect whistle-blowers and survivors, be protective, transparent, supportive, investigative and not relying on the resilience of whistle-blowers or survivors.
